HIGH SCHOOL EXCELLS

Altona High School has had considerable success in the inter-high school sports this year.

In recent weeks the table tennis team has won the metropolitan championship, the junior boys' hockey side has made the semi-finals and the senior soccer team is making a strong bid for the premiership.

Three of the school's students — Greg Smith, Morris Burgess and Peter Symons — are State representatives in soccer this season.

Cross country running is another sport in which the school has excelled with Bruce Roberts finishing second in the western division open 6000 metres and Robert Gramsbergen filling thirdplace. In the schools' local cross country race to raise funds for ground improvements school principal, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Bell and office staff participated and were sponsored for a sum of $68 by students.

First across the finishing line in the event was David Whiffen.

A fund raising evening will be held in the school library this Friday, August 17, at 8 p.m. People attending the function are asked to bring $1 admission and a gift valued at about 40 cents and a plate of food. Proceeds will benefit the school's ground development fund.

Fund raising in style

Gary Meadows from ATV-0's The Price Is Right compared the mannequin parade conducted by Altona North High School to raise money for the 'Pegasus Appeal, '73'.

Angelica Geiger was the winner in a flowing gown with angel sleeves. Runner-up was Caterina Guastalegname and Mary Suta won third prize.

Prizes were department courses from the Helen Abicair School of Deportment.

The $300 raised during the evening will help to build a cafeteria and a migrant education centre at the school.

PIER STREET SITE FOR TYRE FIRM?

A Sydney motor tyre service firm has asked Altona Council's permission to establish a tyre-service centre in Pier Street, on land previously occupied by Altona Motor Spares, north of the Keima Press building.

The company, Motor Tyre Service Pty. Ltd., wants to sell tyres and other allied products of Goodyear Tyre and Rubber Co. (Aust.) Ltd., and cater for the fitting of tyres and provision of brakes and wheel alignment services.

It plans to build a new brick building incorporating office and showroom areas, male and female toilet facilities, locker room, stock room, loading bay and six service bays.

The building would be set back 20 feet from the Pier Street frontage, allowing space for landscaping. A paved courtyard area adjacent to the showroom section of the building would enable vehicles to turn within the site, ensuring all vehicles entering or leaving the premises travel in a forward direction.

At the time the Star went to press it was not known whether or not a land use permit would be issued by council as recommended by the city building surveyor, Mr. Arthur Beech.

The site is zoned 'Serviced Industrial'.

A previous application, in May requested use of the land for mechanical repairs and spare part sales.

The applicants were advised of the council resolution that plans showing building alterations and site-works would have to be presented to council for further consideration of the application.

Since then plans have not been presented and council has received no further communication from the previous applicants.

Extensions for 3 schools

Extensions to Paisley and Deer Park high schools are part of a bulk contract let last week by the Minister for Public Works, Mr. Roberts Dunstan.

Work is expected to start within a month.

The contract, worth $2,785,000, is for extensions at five high schools — Paisley, Deer, Park, Fairhills, Mooroolbark and Wellington.

It has been let to E. A. Watts Pty. Ltd., of Abbotsford.

The five projects are part of a $10.5 million programme launched last month.

Both schools will get an arts and crafts block, a science block and a canteen.

Paisley will also get a maths, commerce and music block.

All buildings are expected to be ready for occupancy early in 1974.

Bicycle safety course

Altona Methodist Church, in Seves Street, has arranged a bicycle road safety instruction course for primary school children, to be held on Tuesday, September 4, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Children will be asked to bring their lunch to the course which will include films, lectures and demonstrations.

Register your dog

Following a complaint by Cr. Doug Grant, Altona Council is on the look-out for dogs which are wandering the municipality without the required registration tags.

"Judging by the amount of dogs I have seen without these, we are missing out on some revenue," said Cr. Grant.

More PR for Altona

In a bid to increase promotion of Altona, the mayor, Cr. Harry Weaver would call together a meeting of all the public relations people in the municipality, he told the recent meeting of council.

"Some people still think Altona is about 30 miles from the city and I find this annoying," said Cr. Weaver.

Teaching and acting drew them together

Two teachers were married at the Blessed Oliver Plunket Church, Pascoe Vale recently.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Francis Tysell.

The bride is the former Miss Genevieve Moylan, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Kath Moylan and the late Mr. John Moylan.

The groom, a former Altona High School student, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Tysell of Bayview Street, Altona.

The couple are both involved in theatre and play golf at Gisborne golf course.

Matron of honor at the wedding, which was conducted by Fr. T. Keogh, was Mrs. Karlene Trevaud. Bridesmaid was Miss Jennie Tysell.

The best man was Mr. Robert Egan and the groomsman Mr. John Trevaud.

A reception was held at Edenhope, Ascot Vale, for 90 guests.

The couple are honeymooning in Tasmania.

Mayor No. 1

Altona's Mayor Cr. Harry Weaver was the first to drive over the recently opened Millers Road railway overpass.

Reporting to the recent meeting of Altona Council, Cr. Weaver said he was disappointed that there had been no official opening.

"But at least I had the pleasure of hopping in the first car over it," he said.

Mr. Simmons is looking forward to making a similar trip again, when he retires. He has a daughter residing in Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tysell are pictured after their wedding at Pascoe Vale.

Welcome back

Cr. Doug Grant was first to welcome back city engineer, Mr. Ralph Simmons at the recent meeting of council. Mr. Simmons was attending the first open meeting of council since returning from his world trip.

Extending a hearty "welcome back" to Mr. Simmons, Cr. Grant said the Acting City Engineer, Mr. Algie Jokubauskas had carried out the task quite capably in Mr. Simmons' absence.

In a brief reply, Mr. Simmons said a lot of the information he gained during his trip was intangible. "In my view, Australia is probably the best country to live in the world," he said.

"But every country had something to offer."

Mr. Simmons is looking forward to making a similar trip again, when he retires. He has a daughter residing in Britain.

Councillor's daughter is 21

Last Saturday was a proud day for the Crofts family of Civic Parade, when Denise, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Crofts, celebrated her 21st birthday.

Friends and relatives including Denise's grandparents from Hamilton, attended a party in her honor at the Crofts' residence.

During the evening, Denise was presented with the "key to the door" by her parents who gave her a watch for her birthday.

Denise, a student teacher at Melbourne primary teachers' college, hopes to teach locally next year. She is engaged to Neil Harris of Clayton.

Denise's parents both play an active role in community activities, Les as an Altona councillor and June as president of the Altona District Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mayor reviews a year of progress

A "continuing record of progress" is how Altona Mayor, Cr. Harry Weaver, reviews his mayoral term.

Cr. Weaver said that during the year, the following had been achieved.

● An additional 775 properties have had sewerage made available and another 225 properties are currently being reticulated. The Board of Works is living up to its promise to expedite the completion of sewerage for Altona.

● Tree planting and the public response to the mayor's theme: "PLANT A TREE IN '73".

More than 6000 trees have been planted during the year by industry and council. In addition, the layout of private gardens shows the immense pride which people have in their own surroundings.

A gift tree was presented to all persons present at the Mayoral Installation, to people naturalised during the year, and to the mother of each baby born at the Altona District Hospital.

Industry is co-operating with council in an effort to provide a large buffer area of trees between industry and housing in the Wimpey Estate area.

● Some $10,000 improvements to Cherry Lake in progress, with the construction of another section of retaining wall. In addition, general beautification and fencing has taken place and the council sees the Cherry Lake area as a focal point in the city's beautification and recreation activities for the future.

● Construction of groynes and resultant trapping of sand to improve Altona foreshore.

● Extension of the promenade and general beautification and tree planting.

● Construction commenced on a new sports pavilion at A. W. Langshaw Reserve and plans approved for a new pavilion at Altona Tennis Club. Estimated cost $46,500.

● His Worship officially opened the $15,350 St. John Ambulance Wing at Altona Youth Club.

● Public response to Mayoral Messages in the Altona Star and the letters which have been received from people with constructive suggestion on various items which concern our community.

● Distribution of photographic public relation material depicting four different scenes of Altona which created great interest in other areas of the state.

● The stocking of Cherry Lake with fish and the obvious pleasure to many "Huckleberry Finns", both young and old.

● Development in Altona Meadows, and —

● Expansion of welfare services and the close co-operation which has been established with Government departments and community interests in the furtherance of this vital community service.

Use Thames as model for Maribyrnong: MP

Anti-pollution controls which have been used on the River Thames, London, could be used equally as successful on the Maribyrnong River.

This is the opinion of Mr. Jack Ginnifer MLA for Deer Park, who is currently in England on a business trip.

In a letter, Mr. Ginnifer says: "Today I had discussions with the people responsible for pollution control on the Thames."

"Pollution is synonymous with people and the Thames started to have pollution problems when London became important as a centre of population."

"Roman remains discovered in the river bed in recent times indicate that the river was a dumping ground for rubbish even in the first few centuries A.D."

"The condition of the Thames became so offensive in the 1950s that sessions of Parliament were interrupted and lime-soaked sheets were hung at the windows to reduce the stench."

"The River Thames Authority has adopted a system of consultation, co-ordination and control in its efforts to reduce pollution loads in the river."

"Within this framework, the requirements of health, commercial and amenity aspects are co-ordinated, because these topics cannot be considered in isolation."

"It has been essential to assure all dischargers that they are being treated in an equitable manner when fixing standards required for effluent discharge."

"Wherever possible, discharges are diverted to local authority sewers, so that the trade effluent is treated at a sewage treatment works with facilities and technical expertise."

"From 1953 to 1962, pollution loads were reduced by 17 per cent. By 1969, they were reduced by a further 23 per cent."

"In 1957-8, no fish were found in a 40-mile section of the river."

"But a survey in 1967 showed that there were 57 species of fish in the same section."

"If this improvement can be made in the Thames, a similar improvement can be made in the Maribyrnong."

Big youth camp plan for west

The Federal Government has been asked to release 1750 acres as a camp for children of the western suburbs.

The land is on Mt. Cotteril at Rockbank in the Melton Shire.

It is being sought to cater for 30,000 children and teenagers in the western region.

The request has been sent to a special Government sub-committee by Mr. Phillip Cairns, private secretary to Dr. Jim Cairns, Federal Minister for Trade.

The land is being used at present by the Commonwealth Government Defence Standards Laboratories as a testing area.

The proposal sets out preliminary plans for cluster-type accommodation to handle 2000 children and staff at any one time.

Other features set out for consideration include a 30,000-capacity music bowl; sporting facilities, including swimming pools and tennis courts; a plant nursery; animal husbandry; creative workshop; direct radio and closed-circuit television; mini-bike track; boat-building workshop; a parliament house and ornamental lakes and water courses.

Mr. Cairns said the submission followed intensive questioning of children and adults in the western suburbs.

He said that of the 20,000 children in the area, half came from migrant families.

"There are enormous problems to integrate these young people both in their school life and social life," he said.

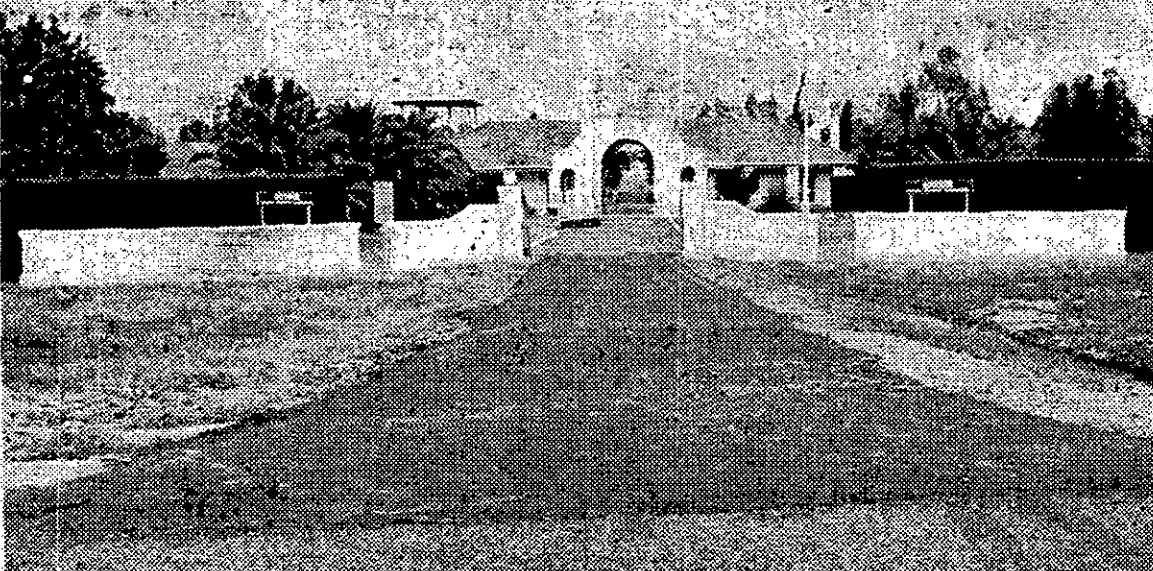

"Little is really known about the problems of integration of young people of different nationalities."

Mr. Cairns said the camp would try to provide creative awareness, social integration and a feeling of self-achievement through selling products or performing their arts.

"The children will continually be stimulated by their surroundings, instructors, booklets and suggestions."

"They will be able to develop creatively and with freedom of expression."

Death traps in flying

The State Electricity Commission has issued a warning to kite and model aeroplane enthusiasts.

The SEC says that fatalities are occurring to people flying them near overhead power lines.

The warning was issued by Mr. G. J. Gay, the SEC's chief electrical inspector for Victoria.

Mr. Gay said parents should warn children to stay well away from power lines when flying kites and model aeroplanes.

Parents, he said, should be aware of where children were using these.

He explained: "If a kite line fouls overhead electricity wires there is a risk of death or severe shock because these lines are often made of a special cord containing metal strands."

"Even where there are no metal strands in the kite line, the person holding it can get an electric shock if the line is wet."

"With model aeroplanes, the control line is normally made of fine wire and fatalities have resulted from contact by these lines with high-voltage wires," said Mr. Gay.

Mayor's message

The history of Altona Meadows back to the booming 1880s. Altona Meadows (or Laverton Estates, as it was then known), is mentioned several times in the book by Michael Cannon, The Land Boomers.

The broad acres of Altona Meadows were bought on terms, then subdivided and offered for sale in the usual manner on low deposits.

To help sales along, Mr. C. R. Stables published (in 1886) a small booklet called Laverton, the New and Model Suburb of Melbourne.

This was an early exercise in public relations techniques which somehow neglected to mention that the suburb was actually one house. Nevertheless, the partnership's land sales at Laverton were conducted in a spirit of extraordinary generosity.

The paddocks, situated near the main line from Geelong to Melbourne (only 30 minutes by train to the city) were sold for the full price of £10 each. The deposit was one sovereign and the payments were 10 shillings monthly. In addition, the partners offered to build houses free of interest, advancing 75 per cent. of the total cost themselves.

My first knowledge of the land was about 40 years ago when my father used to drive our T-Model Ford from Footscray past this area to Campbell's Cove, Point Cook, where my family would spend Christmas holidays camping and fishing.

Five years later, this area became a favorite rabbiting spot for myself and school friends.

I recall two houses on what is now Altona Meadows Estate. One was in Queen Street, near Victoria Street.

(A Mrs. Weaver lived there — no relation to me — and I always recall this particular house because my dogs were always chasing her half a dozen cats).

The other house was in Alma Avenue, near Talbot Street. I believe a Mr. Balwyn lived there.

In 1961 Altona Council took an interest in the area and wrote to about 2500 block owners in an effort to improve the area generally. Council wanted to make the blocks bigger, modernise street layouts, omit back lanes and generally improve the old subdivision.

Only 50 answers were received and even these owners were not willing to co-operate to improve the area. Thoughts for the developments of the area again died and were not revived, until the council decided to make the streets north of Queen Street.

This move proved successful and the first new house was built in 1971. At that stage it was my suggestion that council adopt the name, Altona Meadows in lieu of the old name, Laverton Estates. The name has since been accepted in the area. Today, Altona Meadows has more than 100 houses (all brick or brick veneer) and many younger Altona citizens are building there.

The new pioneers of Altona Meadows are real battlers. Any new estate has its teething troubles. On weekends and at night you can see the young people out collecting garden rocks, maybe chasing an odd snake, battling with their real hard soil, but really enjoying every bit of it.

Hats off to the 73 pioneers of the Meadows. Altona Council is doing its share to help these pioneers. About 40 blocks have been bought by the council for kindergartens, parks, a central shopping centre and other council amenities. Also four blocks have been bought at the entrance to the area from Laverton.

These blocks on the corner of Queen and Merton streets, will be used for an entrance park to our city and will take the shape of something similar to the Bassett Reserve on the corner of Somerville and Geelong roads, Footscray. In North Road the council has obtained Crown land for a major sporting area.

Trees and shrubs have been given by council to the residents of the first 50 houses occupied. The Education Department is currently procuring two school sites in the area. The future looks rosy for the newest part of Altona progressing south-west, and to end it all, I will quote a few words from the owners of the first new house built in the area, and I quote: "How delighted we are to live in Altona Meadows. As we are about to celebrate 12 months in the area, allow me to say a few things about it. It is quiet and peaceful, a few minutes to a good shopping centre in Altona, a few minutes to the beach, five minutes to the golf course, five minutes to Geelong Road, 30 minutes to Melbourne, and there are many nice, young people, settling in the area."

"Two things that we enjoy are the gardens and the good free library that Altona has. We don't mind travelling to these. Also, there is no air pollution out here in Altona Meadows and we are very happy to be here."

A key to every door

Would you like to learn a profession that will open every door?

Learn to be a secretary.

Many girls would like to enter a glamorous industry, to work in television, publishing or fashion.

When you're a qualified secretary, the choice of the field you want to work in is up to you.

Mrs. Eileen Cadzow, who is the principal of Riddell's Secretarial College, Footscray, says the jobs outnumber the applicants in the secretarial field.

Mrs. Cadzow, of Queen Street, Altona, said her school provided an intensive course that could bring a girl's typing speed to employable standard in only five weeks.

Any age

Students' ages range from the teens to the fifties and Mrs. Cadzow believes age doesn't make much difference in learning. Many of the students are women returning to work after their children are off to school.

"I think if she wants to do a course badly, she will do it," Mrs. Cadzow said of the mature woman.

The school has refresher courses in shorthand and typewriting, secretarial training and a receptionist course.

Spelling help

For those who are impatient to learn shorthand in a short time, there is pitmanscript, which gives you a speed of 80-100 words a minute.

Spelling tests are given to Italian, German, Maltese and Greek girls to help them with their transcribing.

Mrs. Cadzow gives a dictation test to a student at Riddell's Secretarial College, Footscray.

In addition to these courses, the school also has evening classes.

Mrs. Cadzow said the dedicated career girl could call the world her oyster. She said one only has to look at the example of Ainsley Gotto, to see how far a girl's secretarial skills could take her.

They believe in Alan

Mr. Alan Dawson (right), a candidate in Williamstown Council's Victoria ward election, has backing him a group of people who believe that he has what it takes to win.

The Williamstown A.L.P. municipal campaign committee has organised a campaign for Mr. Dawson, their candidate in the August 25 election.

Originally from England, he is a Williamstown resident, married, with three children.

An active member of the Williamstown Conservation and Planning Society, he is vitally interested in reducing pollution.

Mr. Dawson has had much experience in community matters and he is widely travelled.

NEW MAN TO RUN WALES BRANCH

Mr. K. R. Payne, (below), has been appointed manager of the Williamstown branch of the Bank of New South Wales. He succeeds Mr. K. S. Dyson, who has been transferred to the bank's Victorian relief staff.

Mr. Payne has had thirty-four years service with the Wales in city, suburban and country areas.

He was formerly head teller at the main Melbourne office, and for the past two and a half years he has been a relieving manager in Victorian branches.

His family connections with the Wales date back to 1882 when his great grandfather opened an account at the Chiltern branch during the gold-mining era.

His interests include sketching, art work, gardening and carpentry. He is also a keen follower of Australian Rules football and has been a member of the Collingwood Football Club since 1960.

Mr. Payne began duty at Williamstown on July 30.

WHEN THE 'MOPS' TAKE OVER

Altona City Youth Theatre will present a return season of The Golden Legion of Cleaning Women at the Williamstown Little Theatre (for four nights) beginning Wednesday, August 22.

The play is an Australian comedy, written by Alan Hopgood and produced by well-known Williamstown identity Vin Foster.

It is about a group of cleaning women managing Australia's finances with interest results...

The principal roles will be played by Brenda Downes, Peter Cheasley, Moira Duff and Wayne Thompson.

Mail bookings are now open at $1.50 for adults and 70 cents for students to all performances.

Bookings should be directed to the ACYT, P.O. Box 73, Altona.

Group concession prices will be available on request. The result of the special effort for a panda was won by Andrew Davies of 87 Verdon Street, Williamstown.

PROCEEDS IN AID OF THE WERRIBEE SHIRE CENTRE FOR MENTALLY RETARDED CHILDREN

Mr. Lionel Garnsworthy (centre), the new leader of Legacy in the Williamstown, Werribee and Altona areas is pictured with the town clerk of Altona Mr. S. Fell and Mr. E. Mather of Williamstown. Photograph by Bob Hawkins, Laverton (399 1496).

Wartime pilot is Legacy leader

A wartime pilot is the new leader of Legacy in the Williamstown, Altona, Werribee area.

He is Mr. Lionel Garnsworthy, of Williamstown, who was installed as area chairman at the annual dinner in the PRA hall at Altona last Wednesday.

Mr. Garnsworthy, a fourth-generation Williamstown resident, joined the Royal Australian Air Force during World War II.

He served as an airman for five and a half years and took part in allied action in the Middle East and later, as the war advanced in Italy, in campaigns there.

He piloted a Spitfire aircraft, then one of the fastest aircraft in the world. He went through the war without being shot down or otherwise involved in a crash.

When former wartime soldiers, sailors and airmen banded together in the Williamstown-Werribee area in 1956 to extend the aid to the wives and children of ex-servicemen who had died, Mr. Garnsworthy became a foundation member of the branch.

He was installed to office as branch chairman last Wednesday by the president of Melbourne Legacy, Mr. Geoff Handbury.

Mr. Handbury said that in his 17 years' service to widows and children, Mr. Garnsworthy's record was an impressive one.

He had served as secretary of the branch and was active in family welfare work.

"I hope to maintain the tradition of the previous chairman, Eric Burgess," Mr. Garnsworthy said.

In his annual report, the retiring chairman said the branch had in its care 82 families, including 95 children under 17.

"Over and above this, we have under our care 250 senior widows a number that is increasing," he said.

Mr. Burgess added that the annual Legacy appeal, arranged by Mr. Arthur Absolon, helped provide finance for the work. Mr. Cliff Elliott led another team of helpers in distributing firewood.

Mr. Burgess expressed appreciation to the organisations and people who assisted Legacy, adding that Williamstown, Werribee and Altona RSLs, had been specially co-operative.

Mr. Burgess added: "It is hard to believe just what a man who takes up the presidency of Melbourne Legacy lets himself in for."

"A man who runs his own business almost has to write off his business for that year."

Mr. Handbury said in an address about the services provided by Legacy that the men who carried the Legacy torch in Williamstown, Altona and Werribee, met together in an atmosphere notable for its relaxed spirit.

"You have something unique in your spirit of togetherness," he said. He related two case histories of Legacy work.

One involved a boy, slightly retarded, who lived for years in the care of Legacy residences.

"He has become a youth with a useful trade and he is cheerful and polite," Mr. Handbury said.

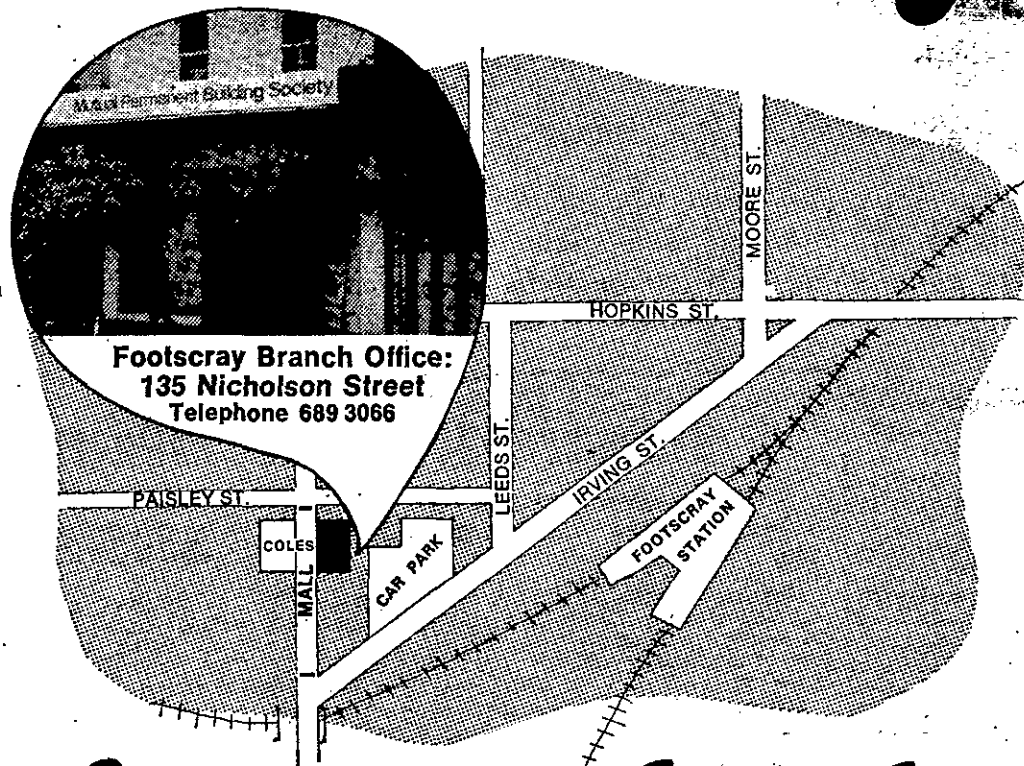

"It is not difficult to conjure up what would have been his future without this help."

Altona Historical Society gains members

Two new members, Mrs. Graham of Blyth Street and Mrs. Cummings of the Esplanade, have joined Altona Historical Society.

Members were enthusiastic at the society's recent meeting when informed that Altona council had granted the society use of the waiting room in the Homestead amenities building.

Members were also told the hospital had asked Mrs. Roach to pass on an embroidered sheet for display in the society museum.

Following the recent annual meeting, Mrs. Smith remains president, Mr. Richard Ross is now senior vice-president replacing Mrs. M. Hearn, who will remain a society member while she tours Australia.

New junior vice-president is Mr. W. J. Smith. Mr. Richard Ross was also appointed assistant secretary/publicity officer subject to his consent.

Mr. A. W. Walker agreed to be minute secretary.

It was reported at the recent meeting by Mr. Smith that large number of school-children had visited the museum during 'Library Week'.

The society's September meeting will be addressed by long-time Altona residents, Mr. and Mrs. Camp. Their reminiscences will be recorded on tape.

Similar interesting meetings will be held in October and November. The society museum is open every third Sunday in the month from 2.30 p.m. to 4.30 p.m.

Residents wishing to join the society should direct inquiries to Mr. A. J. Clark, phone 398 2090.

EFFECTIVE COUNCIL CANDIDATE'S AIM

Mr. Bob Harrison, a Labor Party candidate in next week's council elections says that success for him and two other Labor candidates would help to make Altona Council an effective body.

In a statement to our reporter he explains that he is a former councillor and purchasing manager for a new Altona company, which will have a large impact on employment in the area.

Married, with four growing children, he is a member of Altona Primary School committee and has for many years fought for education facilities in the west.

He has lived in the west for 33 years and is well known in cricket, badminton and little athletics circles.

Extremely keen on community development, the latest project involving Bob Harrison as chairman of Western Suburbs Consumer Group, has been in the formation of the Western Free Legal Advisory Service.

Development

He believes this service is desperately needed here to meet the needs of folk with limited means who cannot afford lawyers.

Mr. Harrison also believes Altona council should do more against rising food prices and watch carefully the effects of metric conversion at the same time paying close attention to quality standards.

He says the Altona council, by their acceptance of the present rating system, which now costs more than one week's pay each year, their past support for conscription and their shallow conservative policies has lost touch with the people.

"I am confident that after six years, Labor will return three members in Altona to help make our council an effective body once again," he says.

Labor team

Calling for council to join the fight against inflation, Bob Harrison is seeking election to Altona council as part of this year's strong Labor team of Mr. Alex Bond and Mr. Tom Lavorato.

"Many councils, including Altona, should be taking a leading role as representatives of the people in directing attention to rising land, food and commodity price rises," he says.

"We know that Melbourne's land storage has forced home prices up and yet Altona council is still holding 3000 home sites off the market, when this land should have been used to force prices down in the west."

Mr. Harrison said Altona had great potential to become a pacesetter on the Western Regional Commission and assist in overcoming the problems of the deprived west, but negative policies and parochialism of the present council meant the need for co-operation with Dr. Cairns and the Federal Government was being ignored.

"While Altona council pretends to have concern for the people, with their narrow financial policy, the physical needs of improved education facilities, safer streets, pollution control, the rights of women and recognition of migrant needs are barely considered," he said.

The winner of the Pegasus car raffle conducted by Altona North High School was Mr. Bruce Fairley, of Upper Thompson.

The winning ticket was No. 1941 and it was sold by Mr. Alan Terrett, a parent.

The mayor, Cr. Fred Maddern, a member of the School Advisory Council, has drawn the winning ticket.

He is pictured with Mrs. S. Kapusta, who is examining the ticket, with Mr. Don Nancarrow (far left) and Mr. Laird Briggs (far right) looking on.

Technical education share

The western suburbs are relatively privileged in the field of technical education.

They have a complex of technical schools, technical colleges and an institute of technology which is among the best.

This is stated in an article submitted to the paper this week by Mr. O. J. Ebbott, career supervisor for the western region technical schools.

Mr. Ebbott says: "How many of us realise what opportunities there are in our own area to prepare people for a career in highly skilled trade fields, in commercial life, in the technical sciences.

"These opportunities are in addition to the apprenticeship courses which many people still believe to be the only stream of aim in technical education.

"Only now are our unique technical institutions being appreciated. The demand for technical education is greater than it has ever been.

"Parents are losing their obsession with academic stream courses in secondary education. Only now are they realising the unique structure of our western region institutions: a structure that is continually advancing with the new developments in both the technological and professional fields.

Antique corner

By J. Ferris

As it would be foolish to cover the vast subject of small bronze statues in one article, I will cover an area which may be of interest to readers.

SMALL ANIMAL BRONZE STATUES.

The most important name in the sculptors of animal bronzes is Antonione Barye (1796-1875). It was Barye who portrayed the grandeur of what he called magnificent beasts of the wilds in bronze.

Barye did statues of lions, tigers, bears, elephants, wolves, deers and the less robust statues of greyhounds, doves and bassetts. His works are now very collectable items and fetch good prices in auction rooms.

P. J. Mene, Daumier, Moigniez, Leoroyd, Cuvelier, Bonheur are also names to keep in mind. Mene especially, was renowned for his equestrian statues and his works are very popular on the international market.

Christopher Frattina and R. Buggatti are two other bronze artists of note.

More recent are, such names as Lorne McKeane, Gillwiles, Paul Roche (art nouveau and art decor), G. Richier, H. Matisse, O. Zaokine, M. Marini, H. Moore, G. Braque and P. Auguste.

As in all antique investment speculation is essential to obtain one of these recent bronzes. I know it would be a sound move.

of a particular small bronze, there are certain things you must consider.

Does the piece have artistic merit? Is it well cast, properly finished? To learn this we must pick the piece up, turn it around and examine carefully.

THE PATIMA

By this we mean the surface incrustation on a piece of bronze which was built up over the years.

As this surface can be done with modern chemical means, forgeries in the field are quite common and you must be careful with your buying.

In general, a new bronze is generally a lighter color than an older, darker bronze.

Small bronzes were produced in mass during the 18th and 19th centuries.

Because of their hardness, they are still to be found in reasonable condition, and if you look hard and long enough, at reasonable prices too.

Brief historical run-down: The ancients did not distinguish between copper, bronze, or brass. To them it was all bronze—the differentiation is a modern development.

Early bronzes have been found in the Austrian-German regions. This is because of the high natural metal resources of these places.

Animal bronzes were most popular at first but by the classical era (Greece) and Romanesque times the human form has taken first place.

Candle sticks, clock bases, door knockers, tombs, fire dogs all started to be made in bronze gradually.

As in all areas of collecting, specialisation is essential. Bronzes are usually classed as either Asian or European and since within these two areas the range is vast, specialisation is a must.

• Next week Mr. Ferris will be writing about antique toys. If you have an item you would like assessed, send it to Mr. Ferris, c/o The Williamstown Advertiser and he will do his best to help.

'SOCCEROOS' IN CRUCIAL CUP MATCH

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Although there are several crucial Victorian matches at the weekend, local soccer will take a back row seat to Australia's World Cup clash with Iran at the Sydney Sports Ground on Saturday.

If Australia wins, it will be in a favorable position for the return match in Teheran on August 24.

After that, South Korea remains the last hurdle on the way to the World Cup finals in Germany next year.

The top match on the local scene is between new State League leader George Cross and Alexander, at Olympic Park on Sunday.

If the Cross can beat the powerful Greek side, it will be odds-on to win the State League championship.

Fourth place will be at stake when Hakoah and Melbourne clash at Middle Park on Saturday and Polonia and Austria will feature in a local derby at Maribyrnong.

The Sunday match in First Division will be between Ajax and Frankston at Green Gully.

Sunshine has an easy task against Springvale but its promotion rival Mooroolbark will also win easily against Ringwood.

In lower divisions, Albion Rovers should retain Second Division leadership by beating Dandenong at Selwyn Park and Newport could climb to second place in Third Division by beating Chelsea at Chelsea.

Australia v.
Iran

The greatest problem facing Australia in Sydney on Saturday is not Iran but its own playing style.

Australia has been successful against teams that attack. Our players excel when they can defend for long periods and then counter-attack.

Rarely have they been asked to take the initiative themselves and apply consistent pressure on their opponents.

Yet this is what they'll have to do against the Iranians.

Nothing less than a respectable victory will give the Australians the morale necessary to do well in front of the highly partisan crowds in Teheran.

Iran's tactics will be to defend en masse, hoping for a draw, and then go all out for victory on its own home ground.

This tactic was used by Israel in Sydney during the now legendary World Cup match of 1969.

In that game, the Australians attacked constantly, but with little plan or purpose.

Hopefully, our team has improved since then.

Last week in a practice match, Australia A managed only a 1-1 draw with Queensland, while Australia B won 4-0.

It was said at the time that the 1-1 draw was excusable because coach Zvonimir Rasic was still experimenting and that he didn't want to give too much away because Iran's coach was among the spectators.

Also, Billy Vojtek and Adrian Alston, both certain to be in Saturday's team, were playing for the B side.

A few days later however, both Alston and Vojtek played in the team that was held to a 2-2 draw by Sydney club team APIA.

Some compensations to the Australians was the fact that Iran managed only a 1-1 draw against a New Zealand club team in Christchurch and a scoreless draw with the full New Zealand national team.

As far as players are concerned, Australia has two big problems. Manfred Schaefer and Bobby Hogg are missing due to injuries and their replacements, John Watkiss and Colin Curran, have not played for Australia for some time.

Both are talented players but they're not as good as the men they're replacing.

Sweeper Peter Wilson had a perfect understanding with Schaefer and it remains to be seen whether he can form as effective a partnership with Watkiss.

To give Australia more scoring power, Rasic is likely to use John Warren in an attacking midfield position.

His likely midfield partners will be Jimmy Mackay and the man who beat Pete last year, Ray Richards.

Ray Baartz, I believe, will probably be given a striker's role which means big Max Tolson will warm the bench.

Tolson's asset is his ability in the air and his physical strength but according to Kuwait coach Lou Brodie who knows Iran's playing style well, high balls will not beat the Iranian defenders.

This means the presence of Tolson would be superfluous.

The key man in Australia's attack will be former Croatia star Billy Vojtek, recalled to the national team due to his recently.

Vojtek would be a better proposition than Branko Buljevic who has a far lower work-rate than Vojtek and who is not as mobile.

Vojtek has scored in both of Australia's practice matches and has never been in finer form.

An attacking combination of Vojtek, Baartz and Adrian Alston, backed by a midfield of Richards, Warren and Mackay would be a fluent, mobile combination.

So I believe the team will line up this way: Jim Fraser; Doug Utlesonovic; Peter Wilson; John Watkiss; Col Curran; John Warren; Ray Richards; Jim Mackay; Adrian Alston; Ray Baartz; Billy Vojtek.

Max Tolson, Branko Buljevic and Jimmy Milisavljevic have the next best chance of being selected.

Western Cup

A major new soccer competition, the Western Suburbs Cup, will start next month.

Nineteen clubs will take part.

The cup series is the brainchild of Sunshine City but will be administered by a representative committee.

It will start in the third or fourth week of September and run for five weeks. All finals matches will be played at Gardens Reserve in Sunshine.

Courage Breweries will donate a cup and medals and the clubs will be charged entrance fees which will be pooled and split up in prize money.

Sunshine City spokesman Mr. Les Shorrock said last night the cup series would be run annually if it is successful this year.

He said the series had the approval of the Victorian Soccer Federation.

The 17 clubs which have entered so far are: STATE LEAGUE: George Cross; Australia; FIRST DIVISION: Sunshine, Altona, Ajax, St. Albans, Western Suburbs; SECOND DIVISION: Albion Rovers; THIRD DIVISION: Newport, Corio; FOURTH DIVISION: Bell Park; PROVINCIAL LEAGUE: Hamlyn Rangers, Geelong, Melton, Werribee; BALLARAT, GEELONG AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION: North Geelong, Geelong City; DISTRICT LEAGUE: Williamstown, Yarraville.

The cup organising committee made a late decision to invite clubs from the District League. The following were approached: Ascot United, Central Altona, Kensington United, North Williamstown, North Sunshine, West Footscray, West Sunshine, Williamstown and Yarraville.

However, only Williamstown and Yarraville entered. The rest did not even bother to reply!

Old home may be restaurant

The owner of a historical building at 145 Nelson Place asked Williamstown Council last Monday if the building could be used as a restaurant.

Council has asked its planning officer to report to the planning and environment committee, about the matter.

The director of N. Beller & Co. (Holdings) Pty. Ltd., whose company owns the property has assured council that the restaurant would comply with all health regulations.

He pointed out that the present zoning of the area is local business.

Industry praised

The Environment Protection Authority's Chief Technical Officer, Mr. Colin Porter recently praised industry for its voluntary approaches to the authority in plans for the beautification of Koroit Creek.

Mr. Porter was addressing a recent meeting of Altona council's environmental committee. He is accredited as being the person responsible for the restoration of waters of Britain's River Thames to a condition which has brought about the return of fish there.

TPI meeting

There were 59 members at the last meeting of the Footscray, Williamstown and Western Suburbs branch of the TPI social club.

The next card afternoon will be at 1.30 p.m. on August 23 in the Manchester Unity Hall, Footscray.

CYMS find it hard

Williamstown CYMS struggled to defeat old rival Flemington last weekend.

Flemington teamed together well in the first half to lead by 12 points.

CYMS fought back in the third term, co-operating more than in the early stages. The final quarter was a torrid affair with CYMS sneaking to a 13-point win.

Scores: Williamstown CYMS 15.13 (103) d. Flemington 14.6 (90). Goals: R. Grima, S. D. Jones, P. Van Der Werf, W. Rose, McVeigh, B. Norton, J. Zammit. Best: P. Zammit, R. Grima, D. Jones, B. Blott, J. Rollason, W. Rosenzweig.

Williamstown CYMS Seconds collapsed after a good first half. A fitter Flemington ran away to a 61-point win.

Scores: Flemington 13.20 (98) d. Williamstown CYMS 5.7 (37). Goals: K. Skelton 3, J. Zammit, B. Tee, Best: J. Zammit, W. Collinder, J. Lewer, K. Skelton.

Footy club loses TV

Detectives from Footsorey C.I.B. are investigating.

STREET STALL

A street stall will be held in Hall Street, Newport, on Friday, August 17, by the "David House" Helping Hand Association for Mentally Retarded Children.

Goods for sale will include toys, jams, coat hangers and children's clothing.

Pier seats

Three seats will be placed on Altona Pier during spring, following a request to Altona Council by Altona Senior Citizens Club.

Altona Council recently received advice of this from the Director General of the Public Works Department.

Cricket for women

It's just not cricket fellows. A Mr. Morris McDonald, president of Altona North Cricket Club, has written to Altona council advising that with co-operation from the Victorian Women's Cricket Association, he is forming a ladies' cricket club.

The new club will be called Altona North Ladies' Cricket Club and Mr. McDonald has applied to council for use of the A. W. Bond Reserve during the cricket season.

In his letter to council, Mr. McDonald said: "We feel the reserve is ideal for ladies' cricket as they do not hit the ball as hard and as far as men, and also the boundaries in ladies' cricket are a lot shorter."

Mr. McDonald said contract had been made with the Altona Lacrosse team which uses the ground in winter and they were quite willing to let the ladies use the pavilion and would re-site their playing area to suit the situation of the cricket wicket.

He asked if it would be possible for council to put down a granitic sand wicket at a point to be decided, should the application be granted.

Altona council is considering the proposal.
